Dear Wheat or Corn producer,

The Grain Crops Team, with the Alabama Cooperative Extension System and Auburn University, would like to invite you to a Wheat and Corn Field day organized at the Tennessee Valley Research Station on June 1st. The goal of this field day is to share with you the latest research findings and technology available to improve grain crops management and production.

This event will have the participation of several Auburn Research and Extension Specialists: Kathy Flanders, Austin Hagan, Charles Burmester, Brenda Ortiz, John Fulton and Timothy Reed. In addition, Dr. Dewey Lee, University of Georgia Grain Crops Extension Specialist, will be also participating of the field day. Information on commercial products for corn and wheat management will be provided by different commercial company representatives.

If you require additional information please contact Brenda Ortiz (bortiz@auburn.edu – 334-844-5534) or Eric Schavey (ets0003@auburn.edu – 256-353-8702)

Details of the event:
