

Types of issues

The sorts of issues that individuals can bring to the Ombuds office: conflicts that they may be having with peers or with their supervisors, conflicts or concerns of a policy that exists or perhaps the absence of a policy where one might ought to be. Issues regarding any aspect of their work environment or their work conditions at Auburn University that they would like to at least initiate a conversation about, to see where they might be able to go with their concern or how they might resolve their concern.

A pretty good adage for Ombuds offices or explaining the role of an Ombuds office for employees is if you aren't sure where to turn, a lot of times contacting the Ombuds office is a pretty good place to start. So that can often be a signal that maybe that's the reason to contact the Ombuds office.
