

“Calendario del Primer Año de Vida del Bebé” ORDER FORM

Meeting the needs of the growing Hispanic population is a challenge we all face. The Alabama Cooperative Extension System, in cooperation with the University of Georgia, now offers the very popular “Baby’s First Year Calendar” in Spanish! The calendar, which features original illustrations of babies and families representing a diverse range of ethnic groups, provides tips to help parents with feeding, immunizing, and raising a child through the first year of life. Along with the calendar and its tips is a page of 70 stickers to help a parent record the child’s amazing progress from arrival to walking. The calendar and stickers help a parent to be more effective and to celebrate the development of a child from birth to age one.
