Make Your Plans Now!

Now is the time to make plans to attend the 4th Annual Family Conference on October 16, 2002 sponsored by the Alabama Cooperative Extension System's (ACES) Urban Affairs & New Nontraditional Programs unit at Alabama A&M University. This year's theme, Strengthening Family Relationships: Models for Change, will allow participants to explore hot issues surrounding today's urban family. The keynote address will be delivered by Dr. Wally Goddard, family life specialist at the Arkansas Extension Service.

In addition to the keynote address, a play on contemporary family dynamics will be featured followed by a discussion session involving conference participants. Extension specialists will also provide a brief presentation on programs and services that relate to the family issues addressed in the play.

H. Wallace Goddard,
Ph.D., C.F.L.E.

Keynote speaker Dr. Wally Goddard holds a B.S. in Physics, an M.Ed. in Instructional Design and a Ph.D. in Family and Human Development. After teaching high school for a number of years, Dr. Goddard became an Extension specialist with ACES where he conducted extensive research on teens and their families. This work led to the development of the Principles of Parenting and The Great Self Mystery. In addition, he was one of four scholars appointed by the United States government to develop The National Extension Parent Education Model and has assisted the Franklin Covey Company in developing family materials.

Dr. Goddard has continued his research on parenting and family relationships at the University of Arkansas Cooperative Extension where he currently works, and continues to be a well known speaker not only in Alabama, but across the United States.

Issued in furtherance of Cooperative Extension work in agriculture and home economics, Acts of May 8 and June 30, 1914, and other related acts, in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.
